"MAIDS OF THE MIDI."

Types of girls who have led the remarkable popular demonstrations in the south of France, which have culminated in riots and bloodshed. One girl leader of a "mob" was shot through the heart during a riot in Narbonne. Women have been most prominent in the troubles growing out of the discontent of the wine growers and their demand for Government protection.

"IRON HAND" FOR FRENCH MUTINEERS

WIND SHIFTS AT NOON; DOWN GOES MERCURY

Sudden Relief From Overpowering Heat Brought by Cool Breeze.

Boston got a surprise at noon today. By a sudden shift of the wind, the hot wave that threatened to keep an awful grip on the city all day, was chased out of sight and the thermometer commenced to drop. In two hours there was a change of seven degrees, with 72 registered at 12 o'clock. By the Weather Bureau it is said that Sunday night is a comfortable day, although there is no certainty that the cooling winds will remain long enough to keep the city cool all day.

Before the relief came one man was overwhelmed by the heat. He was lying on the ground in front of the Hotel de Ville, and his left leg was badly crushed. He was removed to the Hotel de Ville, and his leg was crushed. He was removed to the Hotel de Ville, and his leg was crushed.

With the rising of the sun today the heat from the northwest shifted to the southeast, and the weather men were not sure that another bout of the wind might come.

At 10 o'clock the glass stood at 50 degrees, and the weather was cool and breezy. The temperature at 11 o'clock was 48 degrees, and the wind was from the northwest.

After a few months' sojourn in Europe, during which time he had an audience with the Pope, and for artist and sculptor, Thomas W. Lawson of Boston arrived in New York early today. It is understood, however, that he will not return to Boston until late this week.

Edward Mcweeney, Mr. Lawson's secretary, said to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter today:

"I do not yet know on what Mr. Lawson returned from Europe, but I am informed that he did return to New York last night or last morning. I am now trying to locate him and expect it to be soon. When I last heard from Mr. Lawson he was about to return to his country, but was undecided as to when he would take."

Clemenceau, Though Ministry Is Dangerously Weak, Refuses Compromise With Troops Who Rebelled—Trouble in South Is Critical.

PARIS, June 22.—In spite of the vote by the Chamber of Deputies of confidence in Premier Clemenceau and his policy in the revolutionary crisis, the ministry to-day appears in a very precarious position.

That the Premier's government will fall is freely predicted, for the action of the deputies on yesterday has roused the revolutionists to more violent action.

Many numbers of troops have been sent into the southern districts to quell the rioting of the striking wine growers and sympathizers, and to end the mutiny of troops there.

VIOLENT RIOTING.

Last night there were violent conflicts between troops and citizens at Perpignan and Montpellier.

The mutinous Roussillon Infantry, which deserted at Agde yesterday and marched to Béziers, returned to Montpellier yesterday.

Two companies and a lieutenant awaited the returning regiment at the station. The soldiers saluted respectfully, and falling into line placed themselves under their officers and marched back to their quarters through crowds of silent strikers, who yesterday had cheered them to the echo.

CALM IS OMINOUS.

At Narbonne the loyal military and police have the authorities well to hand, but the government makes no attempt to disguise the fact that the stillness of the city is ominous and is probably simply the pause before the fresh outbreaks which are predicted as certain once the full effect of the deputies' stand yesterday is known.

The military authorities at Agde and Montpellier are on edge, and every morning they are met with a shower of stones and missiles.

An indication of this is the criticism leveled at the Chamber of Deputies for the manner in which it has handled the crisis.

The importance of the events in the south is being emphasized by the number of killed and wounded. In the case of the Roussillon Infantry, the number of killed and wounded is being emphasized by the number of killed and wounded.

FIRE IN ICE BOX CREATES PANIC IN CAFE

Cook Who Made Discovery
Couldn't Speak English and
She Had to Use Signs.

A fire in the lobby, and a panic among Nell Healy and Laura Adams, was one of the spectacles today at the Princess Cafe at No. 24 Cambridge street.

Laura, the American, who can and does compose most excellent Irish verse and has a good command of the English language, was one of the first to discover the flames, and she had to use signs to get help.

When she discovered the flames, out of the refrigerator she made signs to the landlady and some popular waitresses in the cafe.

It was that she could not speak English, and she had to use signs to get help. She had to use signs to get help.

PEOPLE SHOT DOWN IN LONDON—UPRISING

PARIS, June 22.—Dispatches from London report violent outbreaks and rioting in which hundreds of people have been killed by the soldiers. The street scenes are said to be more terrible than those in the south of France.

The cause of the trouble is due to the fact that the British government has refused to grant the demand for a general strike in support of the Roussillon Infantry.

Counsel For Haywood Confident of Victory in Fight for Freedom

Friends of Miner Jubilant Over Prospects of Defence.
Shattering Testimony of Orchard.

BOSTON, June 22.—Counsel for the defendant with the murder of Miners, today began the prosecution of a complete vindication for their client in their efforts to prove that the Western Federation of Miners' effort had nothing to do with the crime that Harry Orchard, arch-impugner, has confessed to having committed.

With an ignoring array of witnesses ready to testify in Haywood's behalf at the opening of the defence on Monday next the defence hopes to shatter the Orchard testimony and secure Haywood's freedom.

It is considered on all sides here today that the defence is in a splendid tactical position, and with any kind of a fair showing in the evidence of the State it is the general belief that a verdict of not guilty will be returned.

Charles Dargatzis' opening address to the jury will be made Monday, to which day the court has adjourned.

Must Go to Jury.
The Haywood case is now in the jury. The prosecution closed yesterday, and the defence promptly asked the court to direct a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the case had been made out against the defence.

Judge Wood denied the motion.
The court is thoroughly satisfied that the case should go to the jury, he said. If it thought otherwise it would not have taken it to the jury.

The motion of the defence to dismiss the indictment against Haywood was accompanied by brilliant arguments made by Richard and Lawrence, and was supported by the testimony of the defence. The court, however, refused to grant the motion, and the case will go to the jury.

The points upon which the defence based its motion for a dismissal of the indictment were as follows:
Points Defence Claims.

First.—The only testimony which tends to connect the defendant, William D. Haywood, charged in the indictment, with the crime of the murder of Harry Orchard, is the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, who testified that he was an accomplice in the commission of the crime.

Second.—Because the testimony of the alleged accomplice in this case is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Third.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Fourth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Fifth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Sixth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Seventh.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Eighth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Ninth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Tenth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Eleventh.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Twelfth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

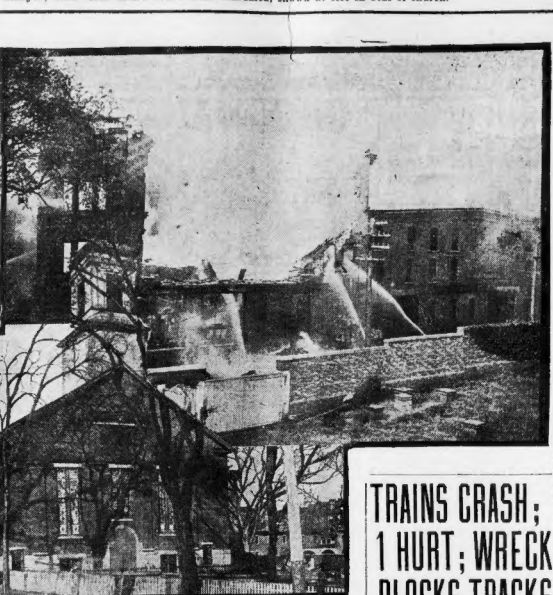

Thirteenth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Fourteenth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

Fifteenth.—Because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, and because the testimony of the defendant, Harry Orchard, is not corroborated by any other evidence which tends to show the commission of the crime, the defence claims that the case should be dismissed.

SEND IN BABY'S PHOTO; CONTEST WED HUB GIRL COLD ON VOYAGE YEARS CLOSE

Count Molke, a Danish nobleman in a country's diplomatic service at Rome, arrived yesterday in New York to meet his daughter, Mary, who is now in the hands of the Boston police, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thayer of this city and Lawrence, as his bride.

Count Molke was one of the passengers on the liner, the Thyris, which was wrecked off the coast of Norway last night. The wedding is to take place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Thayer, in New York.

Without making any pretense at a secret, it might as well be stated here that the time is getting very short and baby's photograph will have to be in the hands of the Prime Baby Editor very soon. If the little one is to get a chance at that $500 bank account or any of the other prizes.

The five expert judges are getting ready for the greatest task of their lives—the final review of all of the photos sent in. Many of the photos may have been hand-picked by the judges, and many may appear to the reader to have been hand-picked by the judges, and many may appear to the reader to have been hand-picked by the judges.

Every baby's face sent in during the twenty-four hours of the contest will be carefully gone over, as though it had never been before, and will stand its chance of winning the prize.

The Prime Baby Editor has some interesting things to say to mothers, so watch for the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

EMMERSON SUIT DELAYED

FREDERICKTON, N. B., June 22.—The Emersonian House against the Fredericton House who go over to next term of the Supreme Court in September. Judge Landry has refused the request of the prosecution for a commission to take evidence in England and Scotland.

Mr. Pugsley made the application for the commission. He said he wanted to get the evidence of former Premier Foster and O'Brien of the St. Lawrence Hall. He was informed that Foster was in Boston, and O'Brien was in England.

Mr. Pugsley said that if the case was tried under Judge Landry's decision of yesterday he would submit the case to the jury. Judge Landry refused application for a commission. Mr. Pugsley said that if Judge Landry did not reserve a case, he would apply to the Supreme Court to compel Landry's ruling. There was no need of a formal witness remaining any longer, as the case could not be tried in the trial.
